

I am outraged that the NAB is trying to stop XM radio from providing a superior service. The weather and traffic channels are invaluable to people like me who travel from region to region. When I travel into a new city, I couldn't possibly know what time to tune to what channel to get traffic and weather. The NAB should spend less time attacking XM and more time trying to provide a better product.